HYGROVEST NEWS

HGV Financial Results for April 2024

During April 2024, HGV's Net Asset Value (before provision for deferred tax) increased by 23% which was primarily due to a 50% increase in the Enterprise Value to Net Revenue Multiple (EV/NRM) used by HGV when valuing its investment in Weed Me Inc ("Weed Me"). This multiple is derived from the end of month market valuations of various listed Canadian companies, each of which HGV considers to be broadly comparable to Weed Me.

A large proportion of the increase in the EV/NRM used by HGV when valuing its investment in Weed Me occurred on the last day of the month (April 30) following media reports that the US Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) would recommend that cannabis be re-scheduled from Schedule I to Schedule III. As discussed below in HGV's Investment Manager update, the DEA is vet to announce any recommendations to re-schedule cannabis from Schedule III.

In the days immediately following April month end, the EV/NRM multiple used by HGV when valuing its investment in Weed Me decreased materially – for example, between 30 April 2024 and 3 May 2024 that multiple fell by approximately 31%. Shareholders should always, including but not limited to this month, be mindful that HGV's reported month-end NTA is a point-in-time assessment only and that HGV's NTA is constantly fluid.

HGV also applies a 15% discount to the derived valuation multiple to account for the fact that Weed Me is unlisted.

Investment Manager Update

There were two significant cannabis industry developments in April. The first was somewhat disappointing, when the latest Canadian federal government budget made no changes to the existing excise tax policy. Many were calling for change, as it would have meaningfully improved the profitability and cash flow of an industry that has been in financial distress for several years.

Nevertheless, it is not necessarily a negative in the medium term. The excise tax structure is arguably only currently restrictive due to the very low market price of cannabis (vs the price when the policy was set) because of excessive investment and oversupply in prior years. Over time the market will likely work through this and reach a balance, and the profitable companies in the industry (like Weed Me) should survive and eventually benefit on the other side.

The other significant development in April was The Associated Press citing confirmed sources stating the US Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) will recommend the rescheduling of cannabis from Schedule II.

Should this be confirmed it would be one of the most positive developments in the cannabis industry in years, and one the market has been waiting a long time for. Unsurprisingly, North American listed cannabis stocks reacted very positively in the month.

The reason it is significant is that it would materially improve operating conditions for US cannabis industry participants. For example, the stringent 280E tax laws (which prevents businesses selling Schedule I or II substances from tax deducting normal business expenses) would be removed. In practice this would mean that US cannabis companies would move from being taxed at the gross profit level to the net profit level.

In addition, it paves the way for further positive policy developments (e.g. SAFER Banking Act) and probably leads to expanded institutional investor interest in general.

We would stress that it is yet not a done deal. The market is awaiting official confirmation from the DEA, followed by an ongoing process that would include potential legal challenges, a lengthy review process and then final approval from the Department of Justice before moving to be signed by the President. A US election in November could also impact the ultimate outcome.

We remind shareholders that since the current Investment Manager took over on 1 July 2023 the investment strategy is no longer focused on cannabis companies. However, because of investments made prior to that date, HGV's largest investments continue to be in the cannabis industry.

As a result, the outcome for shareholders is largely going to be driven by how these businesses perform and HGV's ability to successfully engineer exits from these businesses over time, which is our objective.

Continued favourable policy developments like the above, and the likelihood that it could lead to growing institutional investor interest and improved valuations, makes that objective more achievable.

⁴ Information current at the month of this report.

Hygrovest (ASX: HGV) | ABN 91 601 236 417

(c) Delivra Health Brands Inc. ("DHB")

HGV was a foundation investor in DHB. Its investment in DHB currently comprises 55,557,994 common shares of DHB representing an approximately 18% shareholding.

4. Valuation of Assets

HGV values its investments by applying the following principles:

- (a) Listed securities the book value is based on the closing share prices for public companies at period end converted into Australian dollars at the relevant prevailing foreign exchange rates at month-end.
- (b) Unlisted equity securities Generally, HGV's preference is to value its unlisted investments by applying an Enterprise Value to Net⁵ Revenue Multiple (EV/NRM) provided these valuations are materially consistent with any recent capital raises by the given investee. The Canadian multiple of 3.2 (prior month of 2.1) is derived from the end of month market valuations of various listed Canadian companies, each of which HGV considers to be broadly comparable to Weed Me. The applied multiple represents the average of these multiples which range between 1.3 and 6.4. The Australian multiple of 1.2 (prior month of 1.6) is derived from the end of month market valuations of various listed Australian cannabis companies each of which HGV considers to be broadly comparable to SCH. The applied multiple represents the average of these multiples which range between 0.6 and 1.6. HGV also applies a liquidity discount of 15% to the EV/NRM valuation, to account for these investments' unlisted status. In the absence of material historical revenue, the book value is generally based on the most recent material funding round share prices for private companies (converted into Australian dollars at the relevant prevailing foreign exchange rates as necessary). In the absence of a recent capital raise or arm's length transaction, or if intervening events or information suggest that applying one of those valuation metrics is inappropriate, management considers all available information, including benchmarking of instruments to market movements indicated by relevant indices. HGV also considers the recommendations of its investment manager.
- (c) Convertible debentures and loan instruments the book value is based on HGV's assessment of the capacity of the investee to repay principal and interest.
- (d) Unlisted warrants and note conversion options ("Convertible Securities") the book values also include the unrealised gain arising from valuation of unlisted Convertible Securities using the Black-Scholes pricing model. Black-Scholes attributes a value to Convertible Securities which may be "out of the money" at month end. The Black Scholes model is commonly used to determine the fair price or theoretical value for a call option or a put option based on six variables: volatility, type of option, underlying stock price, time to expiry, strike price, and the risk-free rate. The Convertible Securities valuation ascribed through Black Scholes assumes that the Convertible Security is exercised on the expiry date of the Convertible Securities which may not be the actual outcome e.g., HGV may decide to exercise the Convertible Securities prior to expiry.

The Net Asset Value or NAV is calculated after deducting a provision for company tax on any net unrealised gains that may arise on such theoretical disposal. HGV does not hedge the carrying value of existing investments denominated in non-AUD currencies. HGV's financial statements are subject to statutory audit or review by our independent auditor at 31 December and 30 June each year.

Note:

- a) All information within this release is unaudited unless stated otherwise.
- b) The book value includes shares, convertible notes, options, loans, warrants and accrued interest.

5. Dividend Policy

On 7 June 2019, HGV announced its intention to distribute 20% of its annual profit after tax, after excluding unrealised gains and losses on investments (Annual Profit). The policy was first applied in respect of the Annual Profit for the year ended 30 June 2020. The dividend would be payable within three months of each half year after the completion of the half year and annual financial statements. It is HGV's intention that any dividend would benefit from any available franking credits held by HGV. Currently, HGV does not have a material franking credit balance.
