The Board conducts an annual performance assessment of the CEO against agreed performance measures determined at the start of the year. The CEO undertakes the same assessments of senior executives. In assessing the performance of the individual, the review includes consideration of the senior executive's function, individual targets, group targets, and the overall performance of the company.

The CEO provides a report to the Board on the performance of senior executives together with remuneration recommendations which must be approved by the Board after consultation with the Nomination Remuneration and Human Resources Committee. The Board is provided with papers, presentations and briefings on matters that may affect Class' business or operations, and is briefed on relevant changes in the legislative, regulatory or industry framework.

The Board uses the skills matrix to guide its assessment of the directors and to identify any gaps in the collective skills of the Board. (c) the length of service of each director.

The Board will regularly review the independence of each director. In particular, the Board will have regard to whether a director:

- has been a partner, director or senior employee of a provider of material professional services to Class or any of its subsidiaries within the last 3 years;

Simon Martin (ceased 31 May 2021)	19 November 2019	Independent Non-executive

The Board may determine that a director is independent notwithstanding the existence of an interest, position, association or relationship of the kind identified in the examples listed under Recommendation 2.3 of the ASX Principles and Recommendations.

As part of its independence assessment, the Board considers the length of time that a director has been on the Board, as a prolonged service period may also be seen to impair independence. Such a period is generally considered to be in excess of 10 years, however being on the Board for a period in excess of 10 years does not automatically constitute a deeming of non-independence.

Where it is determined that a non-executive director should no longer be considered independent, the company shall make an announcement to the market.

Recommendation 2.4 - A majority of the Board of a listed entity should be independent directors.

The Board considers each of Mr Quinn, Mr Bazzani, Ms Foster, Mr Martin (ceased 31 May 2021) and Ms Rubinsztein to be independent directors of Class. Mr Russell is not considered independent.

A director development program is also available which is coordinated by the Company Secretary to ensure that directors can enhance their skills and remain abreast of important developments to enable them to discharge their director obligations as effectively as possible.

The induction program is reviewed periodically to ensure and assess the need for existing directors to undertake personal development to maintain the skills and knowledge required to perform their role effectively. The Board also receives briefings and training at in-meeting and offsite sessions throughout the year to remain across developments in industry trends, the laws, regulations and accounting standards relevant to the Class Group and the industry in which it operates.

The company maintains a written policy that outlines the responsibilities relating to the directors, officers and employees in complying with the company's disclosure obligations. Where any such person is of any doubt as to whether they possess information that could be classified as market sensitive, they are required to notify the Company Secretary immediately, in the first instance, so that appropriate analysis and internal consultation can be conducted. Legal advice may also be sought from the company's external counsel.

The Company Secretary is required to consult with the CEO in relation to matters brought to his or her attention for potential announcement. Where the matter is urgent, and the CEO is not contactable, the Chairman is contacted. Where the Chairman is not contactable, the Company Secretary may decide whether an announcement is made, or whether a trading halt is warranted.

Generally, the CEO is ultimately responsible for decisions relating to the making of market announcements. The Company Secretary is responsible for ensuring that the Board is aware of items of business that could result in an announcement. The Board is required to authorise announcements of significance to the company such as significant acquisitions, disposals and closures, material profit upgrades or downgrades, dividend declarations and buybacks, and any other transaction flagged by the Chairman as being fundamentally significant.

Class Limited | Corporate Governance Statement

The company maintains information in relation to its values, governance documents, directors and senior executives, Board and committee charters, annual reports, ASX announcements and contact details on the company's website.

It also encourages ad hoc enquiry via email which are responded to. Recordings of release calls and transcripts of the meeting are made available on the company's website.

Recommendation 6.4 - A listed entity should ensure that all substantive resolutions at a meeting of security holders are decided by a poll rather than by a show of hands.

The voting of all resolutions at meetings of security holders is being decided by poll.

Recommendation 6.5 - A listed entity should give security holders the option to receive communications from, and send communications to, the entity and its security registry electronically.

The company engages its share registry to manage most communications with shareholders. Shareholders are encouraged to receive correspondence from the company electronically, thereby facilitating a more effective, efficient and environmentally friendly communication mechanism with shareholders. Shareholders not already receiving information electronically can elect to do so through the share registry, Link Market Services at <https://www.linkmarketservices.com.au>

An ISMS is a framework of policies and procedures that includes all legal, physical and technical controls involved in an organisation's information risk management processes. Certification demonstrates that Class is aligned with global best practices for protecting information. - (a) if it has an internal audit function, how the function is structured and what role it performs; or
 (b) if it does not have an internal audit function, that fact and the processes it employs for evaluating and continually improving the effectiveness of its risk management and internal control processes.

The company does not have a dedicated internal audit function. The responsibility for risk management and internal controls lies with both the CEO/Managing Director and CFO who continually monitor the company's internal and external risk environment. Necessary action is taken to protect the integrity of the company's books and records including by way of design and implementation of internal controls, and to ensure operational efficiencies, mitigation of risks, and safeguard of company assets.

The Board reviews the need for a dedicated internal audit function annually.

Recommendation 7.4 - A listed entity should disclose whether it has any material exposure to economic, environmental and social sustainability risks and, if it does, how it manages or intends to manage those risks.

The company does not have any material exposure to environmental or social sustainability risks, however, the management of the company and the execution of its growth strategies are subject to several other risks which could adversely affect the company's future development.

The following is not an exhaustive list or explanation of all risks and uncertainties associated with the company (and its subsidiaries), but those considered by management to be the principal material risks:

Failure to retain and attract customers	Class' key customers are accountants and financial advisers who administer SMSFs and other entities on behalf of their clients. Class' business is dependent on its ability to retain its existing customers and attract new customers. Class relies on its customers paying licence fees monthly for subscriptions to its products. As at 30 June 2021, the top ten customers of Class Super, Class Portfolio and Class Trust contribute approximately 12.5 % (FY20:13%) of the combined Annualised Recurring Revenue (ARR) of those products. The top ten NowInfinity customers contribute 4.8 % (FY20 9.4%) of the ARR of the NowInfinity products. The loss of any of these customers would have an adverse impact on Class' business. Class has entered into a mix of ongoing and month-to-month contracts with its customers. The majority of the ongoing contracts can be terminated with 30 to 90 days' notice by the customer. Customers may terminate their contracts if an existing or new competitor introduces a competing product which is perceived by customers to be superior to Class' products or Class introduces a product, or makes changes to its existing products, that are not well received by customers. There is also the risk that Class may fail to maintain its current customer service standards or may not develop product offerings that meet its customers' future requirements. A failure by Class to retain and attract customers could have an adverse impact on Class' business, operations and financial performance Class has 55 % of customers who are transactional only (PAYG) who are not under a subscription agreement.
Competition	Class operates in a competitive market. The factors that may affect the competitive advantage of Class include awareness of its brand, the loyalty of and its relationship with its customers, the scope and features of its product offerings and its level of product innovation. There is a risk that existing or new competitors could gain market share through product innovation, price discounting or aggressive marketing campaigns. Competition may also come from providers of complementary products or services offering products similar to those of Class. In addition, Class could lose customers and market share if it fails to adapt to technological and regulatory changes or customer expectations at the same rate as its competitors. Increased competition could result in margin reductions and loss of market share, which could adversely affect Class' business, operations and financial performance.
Fee risks	Class charges licence fees to its customers for use of its products. There is a risk that Class may not be able to maintain its revenue per customer. This may occur, for example, due to price discounting by competitors or if customers do not perceive value in Class' products. Class may also need to reduce the level of its fees, for example because of a strategy to grow market share.
Product development, maintenance and	The retention and growth by Class of its customer base is dependent on continued product development and innovation, and the level of maintenance and customer support. Class may need to invest more on these matters than anticipated due to competitor activity, technological

Class Limited | Corporate Governance Statement

support	advances or regulatory changes. This increased investment could lead to reduced return on its products as well as delays in introducing product innovations to the market. This may impact on Class' brand and reputation, business and financial performance. In addition, if there is a decline in customer service delivery, this may also adversely impact on Class' brand and reputation.
Decline in SMSF sector	Class currently provides products for the administration of SMSFs. Therefore, the volume and growth of Class' customers is linked to the size and growth of the SMSF sector. There is a risk that the SMSF sector may not grow as anticipated or may decline, for example due to changes in regulation that adversely affect SMSFs versus other superannuation vehicles, increased administrative costs associated with establishing or maintaining a SMSF, or a downturn in the Australian economy. This would have a material adverse impact on Class' business, operations and financial performance.
New products & markets	Class' strategy involves the introduction of new product offerings or the expansion into other markets through organic growth and acquisition. There is a risk that these strategies may result in unforeseen costs or risks or may not deliver the outcomes intended. There may also be unforeseen delay in the introduction of such products which may have an impact on Class' brand and reputation.
Regulation changes	Changes to laws, regulations, standards and practices applicable to the markets in which Class operates (for example, regulatory changes applicable to the administration of SMSFs, requirements for audits, actuarial certificates, changes to super contribution caps and changes to the tax treatment of super) may have an impact on Class' business. If Class fails to adequately respond to such changes, including by making such changes to its product offerings as required, or does not do so as effectively as its competitors, its business, operations and financial performance may be materially adversely affected.
Arrangements with third party suppliers	Class relies on some third-party suppliers and counterparties to provide services and to maintain and support its technology platforms and to provide continued access to its platforms and data (such as direct-connect data feeds) to its customers. Class could face business disruption, reputational damage and significant additional costs if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • any of its third-party providers should suffer outages which results in disruption to service to Class' technology platform; • any of its third-party providers fail to perform their obligations to Class as contracted for whatever reason; or • Class' arrangements with such providers are terminated or altered in any way that is detrimental to Class or the functioning and features of its products, and Class is not able to find alternative sources of supply of the relevant product or service on commercially reasonable terms on a timely basis.
Data loss or corruption and security breaches	Class provides its products online through its technology platform. Cyber-attacks or exploitation of some unidentified vulnerability in Class' technology platform could lead to loss, theft or corruption of data. This could render the platform unavailable for a period of time while data is restored. It could also lead to unauthorised disclosure of customers' data, resulting in reputational damage, claims from customers and their clients and regulatory scrutiny and fines. This could lead to adverse impacts on Class' revenue and financial performance. Although Class has strategies and protections in place to minimise security breaches and to protect data, these strategies might not be successful. Class also maintains insurance against cyber risks, but this insurance may not cover all potential losses.
Disruption to Class' technology platform	Class' business is dependent on the performance, reliability and availability of its technology platform, which in turn, is reliant on third party communications systems (including servers, the internet and hosting services). There is a risk of disruption to Class' platform for reasons which may include, without limitation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • failure in the design and construction of Class' technology platform (including inability for the platform to handle an increase in customers, or errors and omissions in the performance of tasks or functions on the platform); • a force majeure event that affects the systems of either Class or its suppliers, including interruption by fire, natural disaster, power loss, telecommunications failures, terrorist attacks, internet failures, computer viruses or other events beyond Class' control. Although Class has strategies in place to minimise the risk or such disruption, these strategies may not be successful. Unavailability of Class' platform could lead to reputational damage and have an adverse impact on Class' relationships with its customers, and its business, operations and financial performance.

Class Limited | Corporate Governance Statement

Protection of intellectual property	Class' business is heavily dependent on its ability to maintain its rights to the intellectual property in its products and platform. Class relies on laws relating to trade secrets, copyright (including in or relating to its software products) and trade marks to assist in protecting its proprietary rights. However, there is a risk that unauthorised use or copying of Class' software, data, technology or trade mark may occur. Monitoring unauthorised use of Class' intellectual property is difficult and may require significant resources. Class may be unable to detect unauthorised use of its intellectual property rights. In addition, there may be a risk that the validity, ownership or use of intellectual property relating to Class' business is challenged by third parties. Class may be required to incur significant costs and expenses in protecting its intellectual property rights or defending claims by third parties for infringement of intellectual property rights. If Class is not successful in any such litigation or claims, it may be required to pay damages and costs to third parties. In addition, if any such claims result in Class being unable to continue to use any of its key intellectual property, and it is unable to find a cost-effective alternative, then this may materially adversely impact on Class' reputation, business, operations and financial performance. Moreover, whether or not litigation is successful, Class' involvement in litigation could result in significant cost and expense to Class and cause a distraction to management. There is also the risk that if Class develops new intellectual property in the future, it may not be able to obtain adequate legal protection for such intellectual property. Competitors may also be able to independently develop intellectual property and technologies similar to that of Class, without infringing any of its intellectual property or other proprietary rights. This may adversely impact on Class' competitiveness, revenue and financial performance.
Compliance with regulation	Class is subject to regulations concerning how its business is conducted including theATO Operational Security Framework (critical to both the Class Super products and NowInfinity products) and the ASIC Digital Service Providers (DSP) Terms and Conditions for the NowInfinity products. Class Technology Pty Ltd (formerly Class Super Pty Limited) holds an Australian Financial Services Licence and both Class Technology Pty Ltd and the Company hold a tax agent's registration and must comply with relevant requirements of the Corporations Act and tax agent services legislation (and the relevant licence and registration conditions) respectively in relation to such licence and registration. A failure to comply with all relevant regulation may result in the Company (or its relevant Subsidiary) incurring a penalty (such as a fine), censure which restricts the normal conduct of business, an obligation to pay compensation, the need to give a written undertaking to comply or receiving a direction to comply. In some cases, a regulator may cancel or suspend the relevant licence or registration or undertake proceedings against the Company (or its Subsidiary). A significant failure to comply with regulatory requirements, including in relation to data and information privacy may also give rise to reputational damage, and an adverse impact on Class' business and financial performance.
Key personnel risk	The success of Class, including its ability to effectively execute its business strategy, depends to a significant extent on its key personnel, in particular the senior management team. These individuals have extensive experience in, and knowledge of, the industry in which Class operates. Changes that adversely affect Class' ability to retain key personnel or an inability to recruit or retain suitable replacement or additional personnel could materially impact Class' business, operational performance and financial results. Class has sought to mitigate this risk by replacing the Employee Share Option Plan (ESOP) with the new Performance Rights and Deferred Rights Plan (the Plan) It is intended that the Plan will enable Class to retain and attract skilled and experienced employees and provide them with the motivation to make Class more successful.
Foreign exchange risk	The Group's financial statements are presented in Australian Dollars. Approximately 8.7% (FY19:5%) of expenditure is denominated in currencies other than the Australian Dollar. Future changes in the exchange rates in the currencies of which goods and services sourced by the Group are paid may adversely impact the Group's operating and financial performance.
Risk of litigation claims and disputes	Class may be subject to litigation and other claims and disputes during its business, including contractual disputes with suppliers or customers, employment disputes, indemnity claims, and occupational and other claims. There is a risk that such litigation, claims and disputes could materially adversely impact Class' operating and financial performance due to the cost of settling such claims, and affect Class' reputation.
Force majeure event	In referring to circumstances beyond the control of the Group such as unforeseen acts of God or of governments and regulatory authorities.
Funding	Class has a debt facility with its financier and must meet its debt covenant ratios at all times.

Arrangements

Refer to commentary at Recommendations 7.1 and 7.2 for information on the company's risk management framework.

Principle 8: Remunerate fairly and responsibly

Recommendation 8.1 - The Board of a listed entity should:

- (a) have a remuneration committee which:
- (1) has at least three members, a majority of whom are independent directors; and
 - (2) is chaired by an independent director, and disclose:
 - (3) the charter of the committee;
 - (4) the members of the committee; and
 - (5) as at the end of each reporting period, the number of times the committee met throughout the period and the individual attendances of the members at those meetings; or
- (b) if it does not have a remuneration committee, disclose that fact and the processes it employs for setting the level and composition of remuneration for directors and senior executives and ensuring that such remuneration is appropriate and not excessive.

The Board maintains a combined Nomination and Remuneration and Human Resources Committee (NRHRC). The members of the Committee are detailed in Recommendation 2.1 above.

Details of the qualifications and experience of the members of the Committee is detailed in the 'Information of directors' section of the Directors' report.

The Remuneration Committee oversees remuneration policy and monitors remuneration outcomes to promote the interests of shareholders by rewarding, motivating and retaining employees.

The Charter of the Committee is available at the company's website. The Committee's charter sets out the roles and responsibilities, composition and structure of the Committee. In summary, the charter provides for the committee to monitor and advise upon the following matters:

- the company's remuneration structure including long term incentives and superannuation arrangements;
- remuneration and incentives of the Board, CEO, CFO and Company Secretary;
- performance and remuneration of senior management;
- remuneration strategies, practices and disclosures generally;
- workplace health and safety;
- workplace diversity;
- employee share payment plans;
- recruitment, retention and termination strategies;
- management succession, capability and talent development; and
- the Remuneration Report contained within the Directors' report.

When considered necessary, the Committee may obtain external advice from independent consultants in determining the company's remuneration practices including remuneration levels.

In 2021 external consultants Boyden Australia were engaged to conduct an independent market benchmarking review on non-executive director and CEO remuneration on behalf of the Board. The process included benchmarking against comparable ASX listed companies. The results of this review were considered by the NRHRC to recommend remuneration outcomes to the Board for the 2021-2022 year.

The number of Committee meetings held and attended by each member is disclosed in the 'Meetings of directors' section of the Directors' report.

Recommendation 8.2 - A listed entity should separately disclose its policies and practices regarding the remuneration of non-executive directors and the remuneration of executive directors and other senior executives.

Non-executive directors are remunerated by way of cash fees, superannuation contributions and non-cash benefits in lieu of fees. The level of remuneration reflects the anticipated time commitments and responsibilities of the position. Performance based incentives are not available to non-executive directors as it could be perceived to impair their independence in decision making. For the same reason, equity-based remuneration is limited to non-performance-based instruments such as shares.

Remuneration for executive directors and other senior executives is aligned with the Class Group's short, medium and long term performance objectives and discretion is retained, where appropriate, to prevent performance-based remuneration rewarding conduct contrary to the Class Group's values or risk appetite.

Executive directors and other senior executives are remunerated using combinations of fixed and performance-based remuneration. Class fixed remuneration is positioned at the market median against the appropriate index for roles of comparative size, or relative to their counterparts in related industries. Variable remuneration provides executives the opportunity to earn upper quartile total remuneration for stretch performance. Termination payments are detailed in individual contracts and payable on early termination with the exclusion of termination in the event of misconduct.

Further details in relation to the company's remuneration policies are contained in the Remuneration Report, within the Directors' report.

Recommendation 8.3 - A listed entity which has an equity-based remuneration scheme should:

- (a) have a policy on whether participants are permitted to enter into transactions (whether using derivatives or otherwise) which limit the economic risk of participating in the scheme; and
- (b) disclose that policy or a summary of it.

The use of derivatives or other hedging arrangements for unvested securities of the company or vested securities of the company which are subject to escrow arrangements is prohibited. Where a director or other senior executive uses derivatives or other hedging arrangements over vested securities of the company, this will be disclosed.
